

HEAD OF THE PLANTERS HALL HERD

Orange King 3042-21534 is the 2,500 pound Orange Blossom Polled Durham bull at the head of the Planters Hall Herd of Polled Durham and Shorthorn Cattle owned by W. R. Moorman & Son, Glendale, Ky.

The bull is one of the best of this breed of cattle having won the Polled Durham Championship at Iowa State Fair in 1905 and at Kentucky State Fair in both 1907 and 1908. He sired the junior champion bull and heifer at Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Iowa State Fairs in 1906 and junior champion bull calf at Kentucky and Tennessee State Fairs in 1907-08, besides numerous other winners.

STILT WALKING.

In Some Parts of France It is an Absolute Necessity.

In some parts of the world, particularly in the low districts of France, stilt walking is a necessity. In Gascony there are great level plains covered with stunted bushes of dry heath, and the people have a way that is so permeable, so soft and yielding, that the slightest fall of man makes them practically impassable by ordinary methods of pedestrianism. But these wastes must be traversed at all seasons by the poor people of Gascony, who are the descendants of the Gauls, a wild, warlike people, and men, women and children may be seen at all seasons of the year stuck upon high stilts, trudging through the waste lands, carrying baskets, bundles and the like. The stilts used are about five feet long and often longer.

The shepherds of Landes all go on stilts. The shepherd is provided with a stout staff that answers for many purposes. At the proper place in the staff is a flap, which makes a compass, so that when the shepherd goes down to the sheepfold quickly he sees up there he knits or spins with a distaff in his girdle.

The Landes stilts will carry a man with a stout staff that answers for many purposes. At the proper place in the staff is a flap, which makes a compass, so that when the shepherd goes down to the sheepfold quickly he sees up there he knits or spins with a distaff in his girdle.

Never can tell when you'll mash a finger or suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

A Bitter Retort.

"Do you think," he asked, "that you could earn a few more dollars?" "I don't know," she answered, "I might, but if I were a man I'd hate to think that I was a man I'd have to work." "What's the matter, father?" asked Mrs. Potts. "Mebbe you're a little hard up, Bill!"

"No, I ain't, Mary," answered the old man. "Just to show you, a little while ago I says to him I thinks it was going to rain tomorrow. What fool answer d'ye suppose he made me?" "I'm sure I don't know, father," "He begged my pardon!"—Harper's Weekly.

GOOD ROADS IN SWEDEN.

Every Landowner Must Keep His Section of Highways In Repair.

G. Zergler, first of Clinch Springs, Mo., who is especially interested in the Kansas City Star's fight for good roads, says: "Perhaps it would be of interest to know how the roads in three classes of roads there—highways, village roads and private roads. The highways run between county seats, and the grades are limited to 2% per cent. The village roads cannot be in excess of a 4 per cent grade. The cost of maintaining these roads is borne by the landowners according to acreage. Whether it is government land or is owned by private citizens, except where one owner has an extremely costly road to build on his land. In that case he gets due allowance in distance for the cost of construction. No village road can be opened until it is built to the proper grade."

"As to maintenance, every landowner must keep his section of the road properly improved. If he does not a government inspector orders the landowner to have his land plowed down, the landowner fails to pay the cost the government takes a sufficient amount of his personal property and sells it to satisfy the judgment."

"Every man must maintain his own road. In case of accident, the landowner is responsible. One provision of the government's road law in Sweden is also that the driver is not allowed to ride up the hills on a loaded wagon if it is necessary to use a whip on his horse."

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little liverpills, small, gentle and sure. Sold by all druggists.

Failure of a College Education, "Well," observed old man Potts. "I've spent a heap of money on my boy's education, more'n $100,000, just to have him go to college and not learn a trade. It surely makes me sore to think of the money I've wasted in a boy who ain't got as much sense now as he had before he went to college."

"What's the matter, father?" asked Mrs. Potts. "Mebbe you're a little hard up, Bill!"

"No, I ain't, Mary," answered the old man. "Just to show you, a little while ago I says to him I thinks it was going to rain tomorrow. What fool answer d'ye suppose he made me?" "I'm sure I don't know, father," "He begged my pardon!"—Harper's Weekly.

"Had to Bow to Custom." The late King Oscar of Sweden was the last of the great monarchs, but he had to courtesy to custom nevertheless. The king and M. Bonnier, the botanist, met as strangers while out in search of flowers near Stockholm. They were soon the best of friends, and Bonnier suggested lunch at his inn. "Come home with me instead," said the other.

When the way led to the palace gates Bonnier hesitated.

"I'm sorry," said his companion, "but I happen to be the king of this country, and this is the only place where I can entertain my friends."

Scottish Caution.

Certainly the cautious Scot split the opinions of the Scottish architect who was called upon to erect a building in England upon the long lease system, so common with English property owners.

When he read the proposal was to be built upon the terms of 999 years he quickly suggested: "Could ye no' make it a thousand? Nine hundred and ninety-nine years 'll be slippin' awa."

But of all the cautious and careful ways we ever heard of was one given by a carpenter to an old lady in Glasgow, for whom he was working, and the anecdote is well authenticated. She had offered him a dram and asked him whether he would have it then or wait till his work was done. He said, "I'll just take it now."—Reminiscences of Dean Ramsay."

Don't let the baby suffer from eczema, sores or any itching of the skin. Doan's Ointment gives instant relief, cures quickly. Perfect safe for children. All druggists sell.

Scandals to Read.

The American selected a boy entitled "Farming in the Old Country."

"Will you give this to that young man waiting at the dock?" she said to an assistant. "He is a Spanish student learning to read English, and I think this will sound like a very uninteresting subject for a student in English to tackle," a friend remarked.

"It would be uninteresting to anybody but a Spanish student," said the librarian, "but the Spaniards run to farming literature, and the following becomes English of any other nationality something sprightly in the way of fiction or travel usually is recommended. But not to the Spaniard. Nine times out of ten it is a work on agriculture that he will make the best progress in."

The Whole World For Good Roads.

The motor car naturally suggested the good road, and all the world has taken up the building of good roads in response to the suggestion. It is a new idea with us in California, but it is growing like the weeds by the roadside these warm, damp spring days.

The city of Los Angeles is getting busy to spend $150,000 to the construction of 300 miles of fine roads inside of its own limits.

The state, we hope, will not lag behind in response to this twentieth century sentiment.

The governor asks for an appropriation of $15,000,000 to build two thousand miles the whole length of the state, in all something like 1,000 miles.

Good Roads in France.

In France the highways are the chief competitors of the railroads. The chief and splendidly maintained road system is directly favored by the small land proprietors.

Prosperity and the ensuing distribution of wealth lies the key to the secret of the wonderful financial vitality and prosperity of the French nation.

France has been of greater value to the country as the means of raising the value of lands and of putting the small peasant proprietors in easy communication with their markets than have the railroads.

WRECKED VESSELS.

Difficulties That Beset the Work of the Sailors.

What it means to have a wreck is something that few outside of practical men can fully appreciate.

The wreck is a ponderous, unwieldy mass of steel and oak, weighing between 2,000 and 12,000 tons, often dangerous for any vessel to approach, and this must be lifted bodily and moved from the decks of pitching, rolling, listing, and sinking ships.

The wreck is a mass of iron, loose stones more easily and quickly, and as there are hardly any iron-wheels left to grind and crush the loose pieces, the small holes soon become clogged, and the iron begins to grow into large ones and rusts.

To sprinkle the roads with liquids is quite ineffective to prevent spotting. It must be something that has a body that will bind the particles of the road all together and hold them.

The Old Home Calls.

Come back to me, little dancing feet that roam the wide world o'er, I long for the lilt of your stepping steps in my silent rooms once more. Come back to me, little voices gay with laughter and with song, Come back, little hearts beating high with hopes, I have missed and mourned you long.

My roses bloom in my garden walks all sweet and wet with the dew, My lights shine down on the long hill road the wanling twilight through; The swallows flutter about my eaves as in the years of old, And close about me the steadfast arms the lisping pine trees fold. But I am weary for you at morn and eve, O children of my love, Come back to me from your pilgrim ways, from the seas and plains ye rove,

Come over the meadow and up the lane to my door see open wide, And Sit ye down where the red light shines from my welcoming fireside. I keep for you all your childhood dreams, your gladness and delights, The joy of days in sun and rain, the sleep of care-free nights; All the sweet faiths ye have lost and sought again shall be your own; Darlings, come to my empty heart, I am old and still and alone!

MAINTAINING STONE ROADS.

Protective Value of Wood Meal Mixed With Oil and Tar.

One who is interested in road building and thinks he knows how to maintain a macadamized road in good order, writes as follows:

"If my observations are correct, the destruction of a road starts in the following manner: Small stones or pebbles are loosened by the wheels of vehicles and scattered over the road, leaving little holes therein. Now, as long as the wheels had iron tires these holes would not be so bad, but when the iron tires are replaced by those wheels, and the holes in the road were filled again with their dust, the rains playing perhaps a good part in packing and filling the material.

"With the soft wheeled automobile all this changed for the worse. The rapid rate of revolution of the wheels and the low surface caused by them and by the low surface of the machine leaves little stones more easily and quickly.

"And as there are hardly any iron-wheels left to grind and crush the loose pieces, the small holes soon be come clogged, and the iron begins to grow into large ones and rusts."

"To sprinkle the roads with liquids is quite ineffective to prevent spotting.

"It must be something that has a body that will bind the particles of the road all together and hold them.

BETTER SCHOOLS

IN BRECKENRIDGE

The Board of Education Has Made Arrangements to Have Better Paid Teachers And Taken Steps For Other Improvements.

ONE DISTRICT ABOLISHED.

After much work with a troublesome proposition, the Board of Education for the county, have agreed upon holding every school possible to hold for the coming year, thus giving the most convenient arrangement to our people and putting before them the opportunity to have better schools and better paid teachers than ever before.

Only one white district had to be abolished. We could find no way to hold Bandy's with its twenty-one pupils.

The pupils in this district, together with McGhee's and Bethel are enough to make two pauper schools for the year, schools being taught at McGhee's and Bethel.

The patrons in the old Bandy territory may select the school they prefer to patronize the year, whether it be McGhee's, Norton's or any other that adjoins them.

The Board set the salaries of teachers at Kirk and at Custer at $60 per month.

Garfield, Westview and Germantown will pay $50 each.

Fourteen schools, all pauper and worse account of their small census—for they all fall below 40 and consequently cannot hold on by themselves, but must be reported with a larger school near them, will each pay $27.50 per month.

They are: Tauls, Robbins' Tuckers, Lodiburg, Argabright, Jarrett, Poplar Grove, Bethel, Pleasant Valley, High Plains, Rhodes, Little Union, Jackson and Overton's.

These districts, through pauper in size, by offering to board their teachers, augment the salaries given by the Board, secure most any teacher they wish.

Instead of abolishing these districts, they are held at a better salary than ever before, and with the possibility of having superior schools this coming school year.

For the benefit of patrons, trustees and teachers, we publish all the information now obtainable concerning the schools and their probable pay for the year. All this, of course, is based upon the presumption that the present school law will be declared constitutional. There is no doubt about the per capita being as good as it was last year. Hence those interested can make their estimates of pay from the number of pupils for which payment will be made.

WANTED NO LAWYER.

It was a Simple Matter to Satisfy the Accused.

"Jed" Pinto, "the lawyer," ordered the judge in a rural Alabama court.

A big hulking negro ambled up to be arraigned for murder.

"Jed," began the judge, "you are charged with the gravest crime known to the law, that of taking the life of a fellow man. One of the forms of punishment for such a crime is death. Have you made any arrangements for your defense in this case, Jed?"

"No, suh, judge. I ain't done nuttin'." "Have you a lawyer, Jed?"

"No, suh, judge. I ain't got lawyer. I ain't got no money for a judge."

"Well, Jed," said the judge, showing a little impatience, "have you talked to anybody about this case?"

"I talked to de sherb some dat night when he come after me, judge, but you know dat didn't do no good."

"For your information, Jed, I will tell you that the practice in this court to appoint counsel to any defendant who has none. I am now ready to appoint you a lawyer. Do you want one?"

"No, judge. I don't want nuttin'." replied Jed rather dolefully.

"See here," snapped the judge, "I ain't tendin' to do nuttin'. Ef it's jes' de same to you, judge, as far as I'm concerned I'll just to do what the lawma'nter drap right here."—Everybody's.

Road Improvement in Cuba. One of the beneficial results of the organization of the K. of P. is the establishment of an adequate system of roads and the beginning of construction. These roads are built primarily for the marketing of crops but they are used extensively by automobilemen as well. They are made upon a base of macadam and are 16 inches in width.

Victor Hugo wrote "Les Misérables" in 1862, and made it available to the public in 1866. The book was an immediate success and has sold millions of copies since its publication.
